POWERS ANSWERED.

Greece Has Decided Upon the Steps to Be Taken.

THE DOCUMENT KEPT SECRET.

It is generally believed that she will refuse to withdraw her forces from Crete—The Crown Prince Ready to Go to the Frontier—Sympathy For Greece in England—Latest Cretan War News.

ATHENS, March 8.—The answer of Greece to the identical notes of the powers was discussed at a meeting of the cabinet and approved by King George yesterday. It is reported that the reply is a refusal to recall the Greek fleet and troops from Crete, on the ground that the recall would be a signal for pillage, incendiarism and murder. The complete text will not be known until it is presented to the ambassadors of the powers.

It is understood that, in addition to the ground of refusal to comply because of the fear of pillage, incendiarism and murder in Crete, the note points out that the Cretans, who alone should be regarded as entitled to determine their fate, have declared their unalterable resolution to be annexed to Greece as the only solution that will finally pacify the island.

In diplomatic circles it is said that the Greek answer may lead to negotiations based upon a proposal for co-operation which has been presented by France.

It is stated that in view of the contemplated negative reply of Greece to the powers, King George has sent orders to Colonel Vassos, commanding the Greek forces in Crete, to hold all the positions now occupied by him. The king is still here, and the date of the departure of the crown prince for the frontier has not been fixed. Every effort is being made to concentrate the Greek troops on the Turkish frontier before the threatened blockade of the Greek coast can be effected.

Greece is displaying undiminished firmness in her intention to carry out at all costs the program which she has mapped out for herself in regard to Crete, while at the same time supporting the pacific intentions of her advisers.

It is stated that Prince Maurocordato, the Greek minister at Constantinople, has addressed a note to the Turkish government, proposing to recall the Greek troops from the frontiers of Macedonia and Albania, if the Turkish troops near the Greek frontier are simultaneously withdrawn. The porte, however, has not shown any haste to accede to this proposal.

At the same time this note was sent to the Turkish government, stringent orders were issued to the commanders of the Greek troops in Thessaly to do everything possible to avoid anything calculated to provoke a conflict, while the hope was expressed to the Turkish officials at Constantinople that the porte would issue similar instructions to the commanders of the Turkish troops in Macedonia.

Dispatches since received here from Thessaly indicate that the wishes of King George will be carried out. It was stated in these messages that although the Greek troops are animated with unabated enthusiasm, nothing will be done to needlessly irritate the Turks.

An incident showing this to be the case has occurred near Melno. A Greek officer of engineers was engaged in supervising the work of repairing a road close to the frontier and was prevented by some Turkish officials from proceeding with the task. The Greeks have not taken any action in the matter, although it is claimed they were well within their rights in proceeding with the repairs.

An other hand, a dispatch received here from Canea states that Colonel Vassos, who is in command of the Greek "Army of Occupation," as it is termed at Athens, has received at his camp, near Platania, instructions from King George to be prepared to resist coercion to the end.

This spirit, which pervades all the orders sent to the Greek commanders in Crete is further shown in a Canea dispatch referring to the incident which occurred at Selino Saturday. Before deciding to land the mixed detachment of marines the admirals parlayed for a long time with the Greek commander, Colonel Vassos and the Greek vice consul. Evasive answers only were returned to the admirals, the Greek commander protesting against the obstacles which Europe placed in the way of his action and Colonel Vassos asserting that he had no authority over the insurgents who were investing Selino.

These replies coupled with the insistence of the Greek vice consul that he would only go to Selino on board a Greek warship and in the name of King George of Greece, compelled the foreign admirals, in deference to their instructions to decide to themselves deliver the imprisoned Moslems, even if they had to use force against the insurgents or the Greeks in order to do so. Therefore a detachment of marines was landed at Selino from the foreign warships and it set out forthwith for Candamo, a distance of seven miles.

The Greek vice consul, M. Baracis, thereupon informed the admiral that the Greek government declined all responsibility for what might take place. It is said that there are 9,000 Moslems besieged at Candamo, where the earthworks of the Turks have been partly destroyed by the fire of the insurgents, many men being killed on both sides.

Additional advices from Crete say that the insurgents have formed a cordon around Canea, and that yesterday evening the insurgents attacked the Turkish positions at Malaxa and Keratidi, where they attempted to destroy the block house with the use of dynamite. The fighting, however, was of a desultory nature.

It is announced that 900 men of the Greek reserves will embark tomorrow morning at Corfu for Karavasara and Arta.

FEELING IN ENGLAND.

Great Cretan Demonstration Held in Hyde Park, London.

LONDON, March 8.—Little else is talked about in London, in Great Britain or on the continent than the eastern crisis and the possibility of a war between Greece and Turkey, which may involve the great powers of Europe.

The agitation of the lovers of liberty in favor of Greece is spreading everywhere in Great Britain, according to reports received from many places. In every dissenting chapel and in many churches of all creeds in London a notice was read yesterday morning urging the congregations to attend the demonstration in Hyde Park at 8 o'clock in the afternoon. Though the weather was threatening, about 15,000 people were present. They consisted of all classes, although workmen predominated. Six platforms had been erected for the accommodation of the speakers, and the structures in all cases displayed Greek flags.

A resolution was adopted at all the platforms, with cheers for King George of Greece, expressing the strongest sympathy with the Cretans in their heroic struggle against the intolerable tyranny of the Turk and congratulating Greece upon having by her gallant conduct effected a deliverance which the United powers were unable to achieve.

The resolution further protested against any attempt to coerce Greece and demanded that the Marquis of Salisbury refuse to put the guns of the British fleet to use which would be a disgrace and a humiliation to Great Britain.

While the Hyde Park meeting was in progress, a similar program was being carried out at a mass meeting held in St. James Hall, and another took place yesterday evening in Westminster chapel.

Every one at all the meetings was urged to shower postal cards on the Marquis of Salisbury on which will be written: "No war with Greece."

A dispatch received here from Barcelona, Spain, says that 50 delegates of the Catalan Home Rule associations and a number of newspapers have signed a message to the Greek consul, with the request that it be forwarded to King George, expressing the desire of the Catalans to see Crete united with Greece. The message was presented to the consul with much ceremony and the singing of chorals, etc. The consul, in thanking the deputation, said that the King of Greece would not recede from the path pointed out by the popular will.

FIGHTING IN CRETE.

Insurgents Attack Keratidi With Dynamite and Kill Several Soldiers.

CANEA, March 8.—The admirals have forwarded to their respective governments their suggestions for the coercion of Greece.

The commander of a Russian cruiser which has just arrived from Selino reports that the foreign vessels fired guns there to intimidate the insurgents.

The military governor of Canea has informed the dragoman of the Greek consulate that orders have been received to fire on the Greek cavass if he leaves the consulate.

The Greeks in the town are menaced by the Mussulmans populace, and the commander of the foreign marines declines to guarantee the safety of newspaper correspondents who venture outside of Canea.

The insurgents failed in their endeavors to force an entrance into Malaxa by the use of dynamite at six o'clock last evening, but they made a breach in the walls at Keratidi, killing four soldiers and wounding several. The garrison is urgently appealing for reinforcements. Skirmishing has been going on since yesterday noon on the plains outside Canea.

SCHEME OF SETTLEMENT.

Autonomy to the Cretans Under a Greek Prince Proposed.

LONDON, March 8.—There is no doubt, says the Athens correspondent of The Times, that if Prince George of Greece were placed at the head of an autonomous Crete government, with the title of Prince, the whole Greek nation and the Cretans would willingly accept the proposals of the powers and the Greek troops would be withdrawn.

"Such a scheme, therefore," says The Times correspondent, "ought not to be rejected without the gravest reasons. The Cretans are suspicious of the promises of Europe and firmly believe that there is no other course open than union with Greece or Turkish rule; but, doubtless, if a choice were offered to them, their preference would be for autonomy under a Greek prince."

Turkey Satisfied.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 8.—The reply of the porte to the collective note of Tuesday last and the communique of Friday sets forth, in addition to the resolve of the porte to maintain the integrity of the empire while reserving the right to discuss the precise definition of autonomy for Crete, its desire to maintain peace and its satisfaction with the stipulation of the powers for the withdrawal of the Greek troops from the island.

British Battleship Clears For Action.

LONDON, March 8.—A dispatch to The Times from Canea says that yesterday the British battleship Barfleur cleared for action, owing to the presence of reinforcements of the Greek fleet in Cretan waters.

EVERY ABLE-BODIED GREEK.

Members of Reserve Forces in United States Called Out by King George.

NEW YORK, March 8.—His excellency, Alexander G. Skouzes, minister of foreign affairs to King George of the Hellenes, cables to the acting Grecian minister, instructing him to call out the members of the Grecian reserve forces who are in the United States, and to urge them by every means in his power to go to the assistance of their native country.

D. N. Botassi, the acting minister, who is also consul general to Greece in New York, in an interview, said that the cablegram was of a most alarming nature and indicated that war was imminent.

"It is very serious," said Mr. Botassi, "I am instructed to even call out the reserve that belong to the class as far back as 1866, and so it is evident that King George sorely needs the support of every able-bodied Greek in this struggle. In this country there are about 20,000 Greeks. Of these probably about 5,000 belong to the army reserve. Through the Associated Press, in the name of King George, I wish to officially notify all the reserves of the Grecian army who are in this country that their fatherland calls them back to its ranks. And, to all Greeks, whether they have fought in bygone days or whether they have not—I say, in the name of my king—Your country needs you."

Will R. Phillips, a newspaper man, formerly of Kokomo, Ind., who has been missing for eight years, has been found alive and well in California. He was once thought dead, and a body, supposed to be his, was buried two years ago at Kokomo.

Desbecker, clothier, and Desbecker Brothers, engaged in the same business in Buffalo, filed a suit against the county clerk for the protection of their creditors. The firms are composed of David H. and Daniel Desbecker.

Lizzie McDonald, 10 years old, of St. Louis, intentionally shot herself through the right lung and died shortly afterward at the city hospital. The child lived with foster parents. She left a note saying she was tired of living and wanted to be with her mother.

For several weeks William Morrison of Wrightsville, O., has been missing wheat from his granary. He and his son kept watch, and caught William Whalley in the act of filling up a sack. Whalley pleaded guilty to burglary and was bound over to court.

A few days ago while playing with his classmates at school, Newton, the 10-year-old son of Jesse Wright, living southwest of Kokomo, Ind., was knocked down and trampled on. An internal injury developed, and Saturday the little fellow died from the effects.

The Kansas Methodist conference, in session at Manhattan, Kan., voting on the proposed constitutional amendment as to whether women be permitted to become representatives and delegates to the general conference, decided in favor of the women, 84 to 35.

Kid Bolton, a desperate character of Hindman, Ky., who had been evading arrest for several months, was found dead near that place with a bullet hole in his temple. It is believed that he had tired from running from the authorities and committed suicide.

The boilers at W. J. Rainey's Mount Braddock coke works, at Dunbar, Pa., exploded Saturday completely wrecking the plant. Robert Haxenbaugh, engineer, was instantly killed, and Fireman Robert Meade, colored, fatally injured. The loss will be heavy.

A horrible accident occurred at Marcus, Ind. Joseph McKee and his wife, in a buggy, were struck by a Chicago and Grand Trunk fast train and instantly killed. Their little grandson was with them. By some miracle he escaped with only a few slight bruises.

The bondholders of the People's Street railway (Fourth street cable line) and the Fourth Street and Arsenal railway (an electric line) of St. Louis, both under the same management, asked for the appointment of a receiver. The petitioners represent $3,500 of bonds, on which interest has been defaulted.

Duncan A. Mitchell, 73, of Wooster, O., a projector of the Wooster stage line in the forties, afterward in the United States mail service of the Big Four railway, during the war engaged a Nashville buying house for the government, and employed as guard at the Ohio penitentiary during Foraker's administration, is dead.

While several citizens of Orestes, a small town east of Elwood, Ind., were celebrating the inauguration of McKinley by the shooting of a small cannon, the cannon exploded and seriously injured several of the party, and two men were badly hurt. One of them named Evans had an arm blown off and another named Watkins lost a hand by the accident.

Maria Vause, aged 76, living at Clarksburg, Ross county, O., was found dead by the roadside. The old woman, who was a harmless lunatic, started to walk six miles to visit friends in Pickaway county. Becoming exhausted, she crawled behind a clump of bushes in a fence corner and died from exhaustion and exposure. Her nephew found her body after it had lain by the road a night and a day.

The long standing trouble between the Sam Yip and See Yip societies in Chinatown, San Francisco, is about to become an international question. Secretary of State Sherman will soon be called upon to decide his influence with the Chinese government to secure the release of four native sons of California, born of Chinese parents, and at one time registered voters, who are now imprisoned in a Chinese dungeon.

MCKINLEY WENT TO CHURCH.

Many People Turn Out to Get a Glimpse of the New President.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—President McKinley attended church on his first Sunday in Washington. So did about 6,000 private citizens who wished to catch a glimpse of him. Although it has been settled that the president is to be a regular attendant at Foundry church, at Fourteenth and G streets, his first church going was by special arrangement to hear a sermon by Bishop John P. Newman, at the Metropolitan Methodist church at Four and Half and C streets.

The street in front of the church was packed with people two hours before the regular time for service, but, anticipating the crush, only pew holders were admitted up to 10:30 o'clock. Then the crowd was let in gradually and filled every available foot of standing room from a triple row of chairs in front of the chancel to the back row of the gallery. When there was not room for another individual inside the front doors, the crowd turned to Dr. Talmage's church, the First Presbyterian, only half a block away and this also was soon filled to the doors while the street in front of both churches was packed from curb to curb. When service commenced fully 2,000 people were left outside.

The president drove down from the White House with Mother McKinley and General Osborn. There was a double file of policemen at the door and these cleared the way for the party which entered the church. President McKinley supporting his mother on his arm and General Osborn following.

A pew had been reserved near the front of the church and in this with the president's party was Secretary J. Addison Porter and Mrs. Porter. President McKinley bowed his head for a moment after being seated and then leaned back in the corner of the pew waiting for the service to begin.

Rev. Hugh Johnston, pastor of the church, assisted by the bishop, making the opening prayer and announcing the hymns. On the pulpit also was Rev. Dr. Manchester of Canton, President McKinley's former pastor.

Dr. Johnston specifically mentioned the president, the cabinet and congress in the petition for blessing in his opening prayer.

Bishop Newman's sermon was on the text in the gospel of St. Matthew, "For he came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance." It was rather a pointed sermon on the regeneration of society, whose hope, the speaker declared, lay not in government, education nor philanthropy, but in accepting the doctrine and philosophy of Christ. He warned statesmen especially to "stand back, and not be deluded by the belief that any form of government, autocratic, aristocratic, Democratic or Republican could suppress vice and foster virtue to the ultimate health and well-being of the nation."

When this warning was uttered, there came an audible and devout "amen" from the corner near the chancel.

The presidential party remained till the singing of the final hymn, at the last verse of which they arose and preceded by two ushers left and were driven back to the White House.

During the afternoon the president, in company with Mr. McWilliams of Chicago, went out for a short walk. Their stroll took them in a direction north of the executive mansion and along Sixteenth street, one of the most fashionable thoroughfares of the city. The weather was charming, and the streets were filled with pedestrians, many of whom recognized the president and bowed. After a walk of about 20 minutes Mr. McKinley returned to the White House. The evening was spent very quietly, there being a family gathering at the White House, including some of those who are soon to leave the city for their homes.

MORE TROUBLE FOR SPAIN.

Japan Covets Several Islands Belonging to Spain in South Seas.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The schooner Vine brings news from the Caroline islands, which belong to Spain. The natives on the Buk islands are almost all cannibals. A number of Japanese traders have recently established a prosperous business with the more peaceable islanders, but when they attempt to go inland they have been fiercely opposed. Just before the Vine left the Carolines a dozen or more Japanese traders were massacred by the islanders without provocation. The remaining traders sent the news to the Japanese government and have asked for a war vessel to subjugate the inhabitants of the Spanish islands.

The general belief was that a war would follow, as the Japanese covet the islands and are generally understood to be desirous of having colonies throughout the South seas. It is surmised that Japan would attempt to subjugate the islands and colonize them, irrespective of Spain.

Died in Church.

BALTIMORE, March 8.—Colonel Nathaniel Rives Chambliss, formerly of the Confederate army, was fatally stricken with heart disease yesterday morning while attending services at the Catholic cathedral, dying a few moments after the attack. He was born in Greenville county, Va., and graduated at West Point in 1851. He fought under General Jose E. Johnston at Shiloh. After the war he was for a time professor of mathematics at the University of Alabama. He was a son-in-law of General Hardee, the military tactician.

Columbus Bertram, aged 53, a junk dealer of Muncie, Ind., made his last will and testament Friday evening, saying he had a premonition that he would not live long. Saturday morning he dropped dead.

EXTRA SESSION CALL.

Congress Will Convene One Week From Today.

MCKINLEY'S FIRST PROCLAMATION.

In the Call the President Does Not Mention the Purpose of the Extra Session, but Promises a Communication at the Time of Assembling—A Forecast of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—President McKinley Saturday afternoon issued a proclamation convoking congress in extra session Monday, March 15. The proclamation in full is as follows:

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation:

WHEREAS, Public interest require that the congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock on the fifteenth day of March, 1897, to receive such communication as may be made by the executive:

Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the Capitol, in the city of Washington, on the fifteenth day of March, 1897, at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members thereof are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States at Washington, on the sixth day of March, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-first.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY.
By the President:
JOHN SHERMAN, Secretary of State.

SENATE FORECAST.

No Business of Importance Will Be Attempted Until the House Assembles.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The probabilities are that almost the entire attention of the senate will be given during the present week to an effort to get its committees in working shape and that the senate will adjourn for two or three days at a time without attempting any business of consequence.

No legislation can be attempted with the house not in session, but there are two or three treaties that could be considered. The arbitration treaty is one of these. It has been reported to the senate, but it is understood that Senator Davis, who is chairman of the committee, does not feel free to proceed with the treaty until the committee contains its full membership. Any nominations sent in by the president will of course be considered.

LANDMARK GONE.

The Oldest Theater in Indianapolis Destroyed by Fire.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 8.—The Park theater, formerly the Metropolitan, the oldest theater in Indianapolis, was completely destroyed by fire last night. The theater was a landmark of Indianapolis and in former years the most famous players on the American stage including Edwin Booth, John McCullough and Edwin Forrest appeared there.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have been caused by an electric light wire. It appeared first in the box office. It spread rapidly and inside of an hour the historical old place was in ruins.

For a time it looked as if the whole block in which the theater was located was doomed, but the fire was confined exclusively to the theater.

Oliver Byron was to have opened there this afternoon. His scenery and properties were not in the house at the time of the fire.

A crystal maze, owned by P. Palm of Boston, which occupied the lower floor of the theatre was destroyed. His loss will be about $2,000.

Messrs. Dickson & Talbott estimate their loss at $100,000, on which there is an insurance of $38,000. Arrangements have been made to transfer all the Park theater attractions to the Grand Opera House, Messrs. Dickson & Talbott's other theater here, for the balance of the season.

Dickson & Talbott stated that they would rebuild immediately and that the new theater would be ready for occupancy at the opening of the regular season next August.

Several thousand people gathered about the burning building and several narrow escapes are reported. A great crowd was in the state house yard and on one occasion when the smoke settled down on the people it caused a stampede. Several women were knocked down in the rush and one or two were trampled upon, but not fatally injured. One woman's clothing caught fire and she was severely burned before the flame could be extinguished.

Cheated the Gallows.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 8.—Nelson Miller, colored, convicted of murder in the first degree and waiting to be hanged, died yesterday in the county jail of consumption. In October, 1894, a Hungarian shanty adjoining Miller's shanty was blown up with dynamite. Miller and his wife, Sarah Hester, and three other colored men were arrested, charged with the crime. Miller was tried and convicted.

RAVENNA, O., March 8.—Robbers broke into the postoffice here early yesterday morning by sawing the bars of the windows of the mailing room. The safe was blown open with dynamite and between $500 and $600 in money and stamps was taken. The robbery was not discovered until late yesterday.

INDICATIONS.—Fair weather followed by local snows on lakes; east to south winds; warmer.

The Governor wants the Legislature to adopt laws to put a stop to mob violence. The law-makers ought to instruct him to quit turning murderers out of the penitentiary.

Governor Bradley wants the Legislature to assemble on the 13th, "just for luck." If the Hunterites should be hooded by the unlucky 13, the Governor will be more than satisfied.

The News from Washington City is that Senator Lindsay will fight the new administration from the start. That's queer. Didn't the jolly, good-natured Senator do all in his power to help elect McKinley? Now, why should he turn square about and fight him?

A copy of the initial issue of the Evening Inquirer is at hand. It presents a neat appearance and makes a good start. The publisher is Mr. J. D. Wyatt, who has been engaged in the mercantile business at that place and who is quite well known in Maysville. Success to the Inquirer.

Representative Tony Carroll, of Louisville, gives it as his opinion that Judge W. H. Holt, of Frankfort, will be next United States Senator from Kentucky. He thinks several sound money Democrats will help him out in a pinch. Tony would be only too glad to vote for his father-in-law.

THE CLIMAX OF ABSURD PERFORMANCES.

The Louisville Post remarks: "The climax in a series of absurd performances was reached Friday by Governor Bradley, when he appointed a personal friend, A. T. Wood, Senator from Kentucky. The performance does not reach the dignity of an opera bouffe performance, yet it cannot be considered as serious by the people of Kentucky." Oh, well, the Governor thinks he knows it all, so let him have his way. Br'er Knott is almost as hard on Major Dick Wood. The Post adds: "Wood lacks any sense of the ridiculous or he would not consent to carry the Governor's 'commission' to Washington. We do not suppose even Mr. Bradley expects Mr. Wood to be seated. This whole performance is child's play; a seeking for notoriety on the part of a Governor who dreams he is a candidate for President, yet stoops to play the clown on the political boards. We have in all these maneuvers, in all this play, an explanation of the collapse of the Bradley myth. Selfishness and insatiable love of notoriety have paralyzed executive action. Interference in all the institutions of the State, for the advancement of political schemes—all this has demoralized public affairs in Kentucky, and brought the Republican party into contempt. If the Democratic party will fix public attention on one year of Bradley in office, and leave silver to take care of itself for one year, it will sweep the State."

PITHY POLITICAL POINTS.

It's surely in season to ask about the delay of the promised "good times."

How long are we expected to wait for the promised advent of "good times?"

The Republicans have decidedly the hottest end of the subject of "good times" to handle.

The great trouble may be that Mr. McKinley won't acknowledge the times are not good.

Mr. McKinley ought to be pretty solid on the financial question, as he has been on all sides of it.

The Republicans would promise anything, like the spider trying to get the fly to walk into his parlor.

If Mr. McKinley can make times good he has certainly "come to judgment" at a very opportune epoch.

If the Republicans fail to keep their promise of giving us "good times" it will be no new departure for them.

We suppose the Republicans think the times are plenty good enough for any who voted against McKinley.

If Mr. McKinley possesses the art of making "good times" out of bad ones his hand is certainly more than a practice one.

We hope our Republican friends will not be provoked that we should entertain a doubt whether their "good times" are coming at all.

Mr. McKinley may be so satisfied with his surroundings that he will fail to see any bad times, like the fellow who was so much in love with the girl that he wanted to kiss the whole family.

One of the last edicts of the Cleveland administration is an order signed by Postmaster General Wilson calling the special attention of Postoffice Inspectors and all postal employees to the law against the carriage of obscene literature by express or common carrier, and directing all employees to report violations.

"Let parents not live for their children, but with them." The mother should allow no false modesty to stand in the way of her daughter's knowledge of herself, of her possibilities, of her perils. For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has used his "Favorite Prescription" as a strengthener, a purifier, a regulator. It works directly upon the delicate, distinctly feminine organs, in a natural soothing way. It searches out the weak spots and builds them up. A woman who would understand herself should send 21 cents to the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a book of 1008 pages.

For Circuit Judge.

[Greenup Gazette.]

Hon. James P. Harbeson, the present efficient Circuit Judge of this Judicial district, is a candidate for re-election.

Though it has never been our pleasure to meet Judge Harbeson, we know of his popularity and believe we voice the sentiments of the Democratic party of Greenup County by endorsing his candidacy. We have often heard it remarked that if there ever were two honest Judges in Kentucky those two are Judge James P. Harbeson and Judge S. G. Kinner. We have met Judge Kinner personally and know him to be all right in every respect, and they are "as like as two peas" in their official capacity.

Judge Harbeson has made a glorious record during his present term in office, and has made the office what it should be, one of equal rights to all and special favors to none. He has made a "just Judge;" what more can be said? He has earned a hearty endorsement and we believe it will be unanimously accorded him, irrespective of party.

River News.

The Courier resumed her trips in the Maysville trade this morning.

The Virginia will pass down to-day, and the Stanley is to-night's packet for Pomeroy.

The river is rising fast, as a result of the heavy rain Thursday night and Friday. The marks here showed about thirty-three feet this morning. The rain was especially heavy north of the Ohio, and the rise is principally out of the Scioto and other streams draining that section. Nearly thirty feet of water was expected at Pittsburg Sunday.

HON. CLAUDE THOMAS, of Paris, has tendered his resignation as American Consul at Marseilles.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at J. James Wood's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.

Maysville's Fourth of July Celebration.

Maysville will have the greatest Fourth of July celebration and races this year it ever had in its known history. It will be held on the Maysville Fair Grounds on July 3rd, 1897, as the 4th comes on Sunday. The program will be one of the grandest ever gotten up, the special attractions will be wonderful, and in connection with this there will be an elevated stage erected, in front of the large grand stand, for some of America's finest vaudeville stars and novelties, which will be mentioned in the future. The trotting and running races will be one of the leading features of the day. The special attractions and vaudeville stars, and the purses on the races, will be mentioned through the columns of this paper in routine as they will appear on that day, July 3rd. The purses on the races will be first to appear about April 7th, as this will be the first attraction mentioned.

Japanese Alloys.

It is said that a number of Japanese recipes for the making of alloys which have hitherto been kept a close secret have been revealed by workmen engaged in making them. Among these is the shadko, an alloy of copper and from 1 to 10 per cent of gold. This, when placed in a mordant of sulphate of copper, alum and verdigris assumes the copper or blue black hue of sword sheaths and decorative articles. Gnishi-buichi is a copper alloy with 30 or 50 per cent of silver, of the well known gray color. Mokume is a compound of several alloys. About 30 plates or foils of gold, shadko copper, silver and the last mentioned alloy are soldered together. In this holes are made, the plate is hammered out and put into the mordant. The finest Japanese brass, sinchu, is given as consisting of ten parts copper and five of zinc. The bell metal karakame is made out of 10 parts of copper, 4 of tin, one-half of iron and 1 1/2 of zinc.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

Prices as a Rule Well Sustained, Somewhat Advanced on Higher Grades.

The Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company in its circular for the week has the following:

The high water having left the streets, the sales opened up again on Tuesday at all the warehouses. The offerings were not large, as there was a tendency to see how the market would start. There was a full attendance of buyers, who bid liberally on both old and new, and the sales were very satisfactory.

Offerings were more liberal on Wednesday, and, with some foreign buyers in the market, prices continued firm.

The Thursday and Friday sales were not large, but prices were fully maintained, and the market closed very firm for both old and new.

There was an increased demand for old tobacco. Short red tips and medium red leaf were very active, and competition on these grades advanced prices from 1 to 2 cents, while the low grades and trash were firm at previous quotations. There were very few offerings of fine old leaf, which were taken at full prices.

The largest portion of the offerings of the new crop were of inferior grade, and it must surely be a fact that our shippers are disposing of the low grades, while they are holding their better grades for a future market.

A few crop lots were offered and some very fair averages obtained, and our buyers appear anxious to get some of the better grades and are liberal bidders upon every hoghead of desirable tobacco. The large offerings of low grades being more than the requirements, will not permit any advance upon these grades of any importance, and we can hardly expect much in the future, as a large portion of the old stock on hand is composed of low grade smokers, which will continue to be in competition with the new.

There is some buying in the country at present and the best crops are being looked after, as it is thought the future prospects are favorable for a healthy market for all serviceable tobacco. A good many tobacco men, as well as others, are under the impression that times will improve under the new administration, which we hope will prove true, but if they do not come pretty soon the tobacco fraternity will be like the man's horse that was learning to eat sawdust for oats, with green goggles, and just as he reached the point he died.

TAKEN TO GEORGETOWN.

Harry Ewing, the Murderer of Isaac Griffith—Examining Trial To-day.
Griffith Buried.

Harry Ewing, who shot and killed Isaac Griffith early Saturday morning at the latter's home a few miles below Aberdeen, was taken to Georgetown Saturday afternoon, where he will be given his preliminary trial to-day. The particulars of the tragedy as told by Miles Helm, an eye witness, are as follows:

Ewing, who was assisting in gathering up logs belonging to Crane Bros. of Cincinnati, stopped near Mr. Griffith's home, and after paying Mr. Helms for catching one of their logs came up to see Griffith. While in conversation Griffith asked Ewing why he did not get all their logs at Aberdeen. Ewing replied, "we did." Griffith then bet him 50 cents they did not, and Helms was asked to hold the stakes.

Griffith then told him of a certain log they did not get at Aberdeen, and Ewing told him the reason they did not take that certain log was because it was not one of their logs. Ewing then requested the stakeholder to turn over the money to him as he had won the bet. Griffith protested and told Helms not to pay over the money to Ewing as he had not won.

Ewing then demanded the money from Helms, but he gave each back the own money. Ewing and Griffith had some words, when Griffith stooped down to pick up a chunk of wood. Ewing, who was within three or four feet of him, pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired. The bullet struck Griffith, who sank to the ground.

After being shot Griffith drew his own revolver from his pocket and fired at Ewing, who was then running for the river. The shot, however, did not take effect.

Mr. Helms, after seeing Griffith shot, drew his weapon and would have shot at Ewing, but his revolver for some reason, would not work, and Ewing and his party rowed across the river to the Kentucky shore.

Griffith was thirty-one years of age and leaves a wife and five small children. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and was buried Sunday by the order.

THE friends of Representative Sam Pugh will request Speaker Reed to appoint him on the Judiciary Committee. Judge Pugh comes home to-day to remain until the opening of the extra session.

LEXINGTON Democrats have sworn vengeance against the Republicans who caused the wholesale indictment of Democratic politicians and citizens. Though the charges are not to be heard by the United States Court until October 4, counsel has already been spoken to by the defendants, and there will be no lack of legal talent. Among those who will defend the thirty-six voters are Senator Blackburn, Congressman Evan E. Settle, Hon. William Goebel, ex-Attorney-General P. Wat Hardin, John S. Rhea, Charles J. Bronston, Ed. P. Farrell, Judge J. R. Morton, Colonel John R. Allen and James W. Bryan.

MAJOR ANDREW T. WOOD, whom Governor Bradley appointed Senator to succeed Senator Blackburn, was born in Flemingsburg November 18, 1834. At the age of seventeen he left school and drove a stage for a time over the line from Mt. Sterling to Paris and Maysville. He enlisted in the Union Army in August, 1862, and was elected First Lieutenant of Company A, First Regiment Kentucky Cavalry. In September, 1863, he was commissioned Major of the Seventy-first Kentucky, and served till the war was over. After the war he studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1873, and has since practiced in Mt. Sterling. He was the Republican candidate for Congress in 1872, but was defeated. In 1887 he was the Republican nominee for Attorney-General and in 1891 for Governor, but was defeated both times. The general opinion at Washington is that he will not be seated.

Soup Made of Fruits.

In one of her lectures on cooking Miss Annie Barrows spoke of fruit soups, which are quiet common in foreign countries, particularly in Sweden. They are appetizing and healthful, and offer a pleasing variety from those common to the American bill of fare. The one she made for purposes of illustration was delicious. For it she took one tablespoonful of raw rice, three whole cloves and one cupful of dried apricots which had been thoroughly soaked. To these was added three pints of water. This mixture was cooked for about an hour; then it was rubbed through a sieve, and afterward half a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of sugar were added. The seasoning, Miss Barrows explained, would depend upon the fruit. Apples, being much more acid, naturally would require considerable more sugar than the amount used for apricots.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

In the Berry Line—The Strawberry-Raspberry and the Raspberry-Blackberry.

[S. T. Kenyon in Vanceburg Times.]

Would you believe it, we now have a strawberry-raspberry? It is no fake, but seems to be a genuine cross between the raspberry and strawberry, growing only fifteen to eighteen inches high, spreading considerably, soon forming dense clump of solid foliage. The plant itself is handsome; its bright green foliage resembles that of the rose. The large pure white wax flowers, with snow white stamens, are even larger than a single rose, and produced in great abundance. The fruit is of the shape and size of large strawberries and ripens very early in the season. Its flavor is most delicious and unique, whether eaten fresh, or cooked, or as preserves, differing from that of any fruit known. It is of Japanese origin. The bush dies down in winter, hence is perfectly hardy without protection. In the spring it grows up more luxuriant than ever. It is sure to become very popular as soon as known. Then we have also the raspberry-blackberry, a hybrid between the raspberry and blackberry. The fruit is as large as the largest blackberry and is produced in immense clusters. The color is a clear, dark red. It partakes of the flavor of both the raspberry and blackberry. The fruit ripens early, and brings top prices. Blackberry pie is just splendid, but those seeds are very annoying! Would you believe it, the horticulturists have now a blackberry that has not a sign of a seed in it? It is called "Stonder's seedless blackberry." The berries are of large size, delicious and sweet, and a good shipper. You may rest assured they will sell.

ENQUIRER: "Charles Hassan, a barber, whose place of business is on Main avenue, Norwood, and John Bauer, a well-known butcher of the same place, engaged in a fight Thursday evening in front of the Norwood car barns. It is said that Hassan began hostilities by abusing Bauer who walked away. He was followed by Hassan and turned around and knocked him down. Hassan managed to pick himself up and at the same time seized a bowlder which he hurled at Bauer, hitting him squarely in the mouth. Bauer was rendered unconscious by the blow, and it was nearly ten minutes before he revived. Bauer is now said to be looking for Hassan and more trouble is feared."

PROFESSOR IRL HICKS, the noted forecaster, has the following for the present month: "The first few days of March promise to be fair and cool, with high barometer and frosty nights. After the 4th and 5th look for change to warmer, falling barometer, southerly winds and storms. Much colder weather will flow down from Northwest in wake of these storms, lasting for several days. Marked disturbances will occur from 10th to 13th. Note this fact and watch storm indications. Snow and rain may be expected, snow, of course, more toward the north. A sharp change to colder will follow the storms, and reaching the western section two or three days earlier than the east. Reactionary storms about the 16th, 17th, 18th. More snow and rain followed by heavy gales and cold. From 21st to 24th heavy equinoctial storms will be due, followed by renewed cold. About the 28th and 29th will enter reactionary storms."

IN A CUBAN PRISON. DON'T YOU KNOW
Hardships Endured by Mrs. Concepcion Agramonte.
HER SUFFERINGS WERE INTENSE.
After Thirty-Two Days' Imprisonment She Was Permitted to Leave the Island—An African Citizen Fiercely Butchered by Spanish Guerrillas—Two More Expeditions Have Sailed For Cuba.
KEY WEST, March 8.—Mrs. Concepcion Agramonte, was a passenger on board the Mascotte from Havana when the vessel touched here Saturday night en route for Tampa. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Agramonte is a widow, 62 years old, lives at Puerto Principe and has five sons now fighting in the Cuban army.
She informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that the chief of police of Puerto Principe called upon her, told her the government had ordered her arrest, and conducted her to prison, where she was confined in a small cell with 11 other prisoners.
Her relatives fearing that on account of her advanced age she would not be able to endure this severe treatment, offered to pay the authorities for better accommodations for her. These offers were received with sneers. Her relatives were told that anything was good enough for a Cuban, and they were asked why Mrs. Agramonte should get any better treatment than the rest. Her daughter's appeal to be allowed to see her was refused.
"My suffering," said Mrs. Agramonte, "were intense. After remaining in prison 29 days, I was sent to Havana and there confined in a house of refuge for women of all classes. The crowded condition of this jail made it worse than the Puerto Principe prison. After three days' confinement there I was released, and, having been vaccinated after undergoing the quarantine regulations, I was permitted to leave on the Mascotte. There were no charges preferred against me, and I can think of no reason for my arrest except that my sons are fighting to free Cuba. At the time of my transfer from Puerto Principe jail, two other ladies, Marie Aguilar and Gabrielle Varona, were liberated."

GALES AT SEA.
The Steamship Adriatic Experiences Its Worst Voyage.

QUEENSTOWN, March 8.—The White Star steamship Adriatic, Captain Sowden, arrived here shortly after midnight after a very stormy passage from New York. Violent northwest gales, accompanied by tremendous seas, were successively encountered.

The worst weather of the trip was experienced on March 2, when three top-sails were blown away and two of the lifeboats were washed over the side from their fastenings and a portion of the rail of the promenade deck was carried away by an enormous sea. The ship's steering gear was also disabled and signals were at once made that the vessel was out of control.

The decks were washed for several days by the terrific seas and much water got below. The passengers did not dare to leave their cabins.

The officers of the Adriatic say this is the worst passage they have ever experienced.

Two Freight Trains Wrecked.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 8.—On the crossing of the Mineral and Southern railroads at North Birmingham yesterday two heavy freight trains collided at right angles. Both locomotives were wrecked and several cars smashed. The trainmen jumped, but Engineer Charles Ryan of the Mineral train was caught in the debris and fatally injured. Engineer Frank Mosby had an arm broken and was otherwise seriously injured and an unknown tramp was fatally scalded.

Deaths from a Snowslide.

PARK CITY, Utah, March 8.—A heavy snowslide started from the mountain peak west of the Morgan mine yesterday and struck one of the Daily mine bunk houses, which was shivered into atoms. Nine men were sleeping in the house at the time. Five were rescued alive about an hour afterward. Late in the afternoon the dead bodies of Nicholas Paffis, James Keating and Nicholas Puffetto, were recovered. Joseph Zucca is still missing and is no doubt dead.

Fair weather followed by local snows on lakes; east to south winds; warmer.

Filled the Prescription.

De Quincy tells the story somewhere of a party of Englishmen who, finding themselves in Paris on Christmas day and being bound to have plum pudding for dinner, were unable to find a cook able to prepare the dish in orthodox fashion. Conferences with several distinguished chefs disclosed nothing but the most astounding Gallic ignorance of the British national dish.

This was, of course, before the days of the "petite vittese," which brought across the channel so opportunely for Taffy and Little Billee and the Laird their Christmas dinner; so something had to be done.

One of the Englishmen happened to be a doctor and also an amateur cook. He had in his possession a recipe for plum pudding, warranted orthodox. This, with some labor, and doubting much of its ultimate success, he reduced to the terms of a prescription and sent to an apothecary. Les trois Angliches then sat down to dinner and awaited results.

Sure enough, at the proper stage of the feast, when the plum pudding was due, entered the apothecary, in black silk stockings and small clothes, according to the custom of the day, and wearing a sword. Behind him came his assistant, bearing aloft the "prescription." It was perfect in every detail, even to the blazing halo of brandy.

It is related that when the man of drugs realized the joke that had been played upon him, he was for putting his sword to other than ornamental uses. But one taste of his own medicine served to placate him and he sat at the feast with his English friends.

George III.

A small party is assembled in a room at Windsor round Mrs. Delaney, an old lady whose goodness and amiability have made her a great favorite with virtuous and pious royalty. One of them, Miss Burney, is an authoress of repute. The door opens, and there enters a large man in black, with a star upon his breast. Profound sensation is caused by his appearance, and the party, in compliance with a curious etiquette, show their awful sense of present royalty by huddling up to the wall. The king talks affectionately to the good old lady, and with playful appropriateness to her literary friend, whose novels he has read with interest. He has a trick of saying, "What, what, what," but otherwise, unless the report of his conversation has been dressed, he talks not ill.

He has read Voltaire and Rousseau. Voltaire, he owns, he thinks a monster, as a religious man, without being a great bigot, well might. Rousseau he dislikes less and had given him a pension. He reads the newspapers, though they are far from courtly. He is fond of plays and criticises the comedies of his time. He has the misfortune to let fall the remark to a lady who would record it that "a great part of Shakespeare is sad stuff, only you must not say so." But so thought Voltaire and all the devotees of the classical rules. George spoke three languages and had a taste for music, so that, poor as his education in his boyhood had been, as a man he could hardly be called uncultivated or incapable on that account of taking in large ideas.—Cornhill Magazine.

A good, heavy fall of snow costs New York city $100,000. It requires that sum to pay for shoveling the snow off the streets.

HAVANA DISPATCHES.
Same Old Story Only the Names Are Different.

HAVANA, March 8.—General Aldave, by effecting a combination with the Navas battalion, has defeated the insurgents in an engagement at Congo Alto, Santa Clara. The Spaniards lost a captain, a Lieutenant and had four privates wounded. The two divisions were marching on Guira, the Navas battalion through Cordovanal, and General Aldave, through Ventorrilla.

The Navas battalion defeated the insurgents in the Siju Lola hills, killing two. General Aldave came up in time to repulse the advance of the insurgents. The Spanish regulars lost one private; the Navas lost a captain and had 14 seriously and seven slightly wounded.

The scouts of the Puerto Principe regiment have defeated the insurgents near Manacas Platano, macthing 13. There has been light fighting in other places.

AN AMERICAN BUTCHERED.

Another Fiercely Crime Perpetrated by Spanish Soldiers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 8.—Of all the fiendish crimes of the Spanish fell equal the horrible butchery in Cuba of Roberto Otasso, a naturalized American citizen, who was assassinated by Spanish guerrillas on his plantation near Cardenas.

Besides being shot, Otasso's body had been hacked with machetes and most horribly mutilated. The head was split, the legs cut nearly off and great pieces of flesh slashed from the body.

Nothing has been done about it by the authorities, for it is claimed that the deed was the work of Spanish guerrillas, and therefore the government is not responsible.

TWO CUBAN EXPEDITION.

Uncle Sam's Patrol Outwitted by Filibustering Craft.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 8.—It is stated that the Cubans sent off two expeditions the other night, both starting as if going from the west coast to throw the warships off the guard. The largest portion went to Carrabelle on the gulf, south of Tallahassee.

But another party of 500 men went west, and then, taking other roads, made a half turn, coming out on the east coast at New Smyrna. Here a large cargo of arms and ammunition had been waiting. It is supposed that the Three Friends took this out to a vessel off the island, as having a government officer on board, she would hardly go to Cuba.

SANDBAGGER DROPS DEAD.

He Had Just Assaulted a Man and Had Been Captured.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Late Saturday night, while Herman Goldstein, a hatter, was entering the door of his home on East Sixteenth street, he was felled by blows from a sandbag in the hands of a man who suddenly sprang from a hallway. Goldstein shouted lustily, and the sandbagger fled, but was caught by two men who were passing and brought back.

The man asked Mr. Goldstein if he could identify the prisoner as the man who assaulted him, and he replied that he could not. Suddenly the prisoner became pallid and sank down from apparent illness. Before medical aid could be summoned he died. The dead man has not yet been identified. He was about 30 years old, tall and dark and looked like a Spaniard. He wore a beard and a small mustache.
